Cernty Surveyor, -Mr. James Mc-Campbell, who lives in the vicinity of Abingdon is announced as a card date for the office of Surveyor for Was'ngton. He is said to be thoroughly qualified, and to be a man of energy and worth,

W. W. Hurt .- The card of this invite centleman sets forth very valuable qualifications for the office of County Court Clerk. For perhaps fifteen years he has been known as an efficient and encreetic member of the firm of Hurt & Bros. at Abingdon, where he has made the acquaintance of very many of the voters of Washington. There is no man better qualified, and no man would render more thorough satisfaction in the office, His

Human beings on the other hand, must depend on reason and experience in se-lecting the means of protecting health and life against unwholesome influences. Now, what does reason say on this vital subject? Does it not tell us that to invigorate and purify the system is the heat way to protect it against the invisible poisen which generates disease? Surely it does. The next question is, what guide shall we follow in chossing a medicinal safeguard? Reason replies let your monitor be experience. BRADFIED'S FEMALE RECULATOR .- We have often read in the newspapers of the grand success of medical compounds put up at the North and elsewhere. Many of those medicines have had their day, and we hear no more of them. Their proprietors have made fortunes, not so much from the curative powers and virtues of their mixtures, as powers and virtues of their mixtures, as from the notoriety given them by advertising, by which people were made to believe all the good that was said of them. A preparation is now before the public which is becoming very popular, and is known as Bradfield's Female Regulator, put up by L. H. Bradfield, of Atlanta, Ga., at $1.50 per bottle. Doing business under extremely light expenses, and with ample means at our ommand to compete successfully with any house in this section of country, we sha'l be happy at all times to duplicate bills bought at other houses. But at the same time we wish our friends to distinctly understand that in no case will we resort to the miserable practices, of that class of traders, who sail under false. colors, trade at other men's risk, bankrupt their own reputations beth at home and abroad and have well nigh ruined the character of our town. We feel fully assured that this cut throat system of trade is now thoroughly understood by all ensible citizens both of town and country, and that the voice of the people is unanimous in its condemnation. The trick of putting a few well known article below cost, and then adding an unfair profit upon some of the many hundred articles, which it is impossible for any but a merchant to know the value of, too shallow to deceive and unworthy of a solid and correct business man.

The only advice we have to give to our friends in such cases is, when these buits are offered to you, take them by all means, but shun the hidden hooks. Believing as we do, that there is but one correct system of doing business, viz: upon the basis of a cush price for goods, a cash price for produce, a cash price for every thing, and having planted ourselves on this platform we shall fight on this tine, and sell goods so low as to make it the interest of all to trade with us. We will say in candar to our numerous friends and acquaintances, that our motto is, and always will be, fair dealing and mutual confidence between buyer and seller. Should time and surrounding circumstances demonstrate the fact that we cannot do business successfully upon this plen, then we will say to our friends who may have claims against us, present them, we will pay them off, and close our doors.

In conclusion, we have only to say to our friends and customers that we thank them for the liberal patrouage heretofore extended to us, and promise them that we will sell our goods throughout the entire stock, at barely living profits, feeling entirely confident that by so doing we are studying, not only their interests but our own.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicene or the auplication of the knife; by meaus of which every sufferer, no matter xhat his condition may be, may cure him-self cheaply, privately, and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, D. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," Address the Publishers, CHAS, J. C. KLINE & CO.
